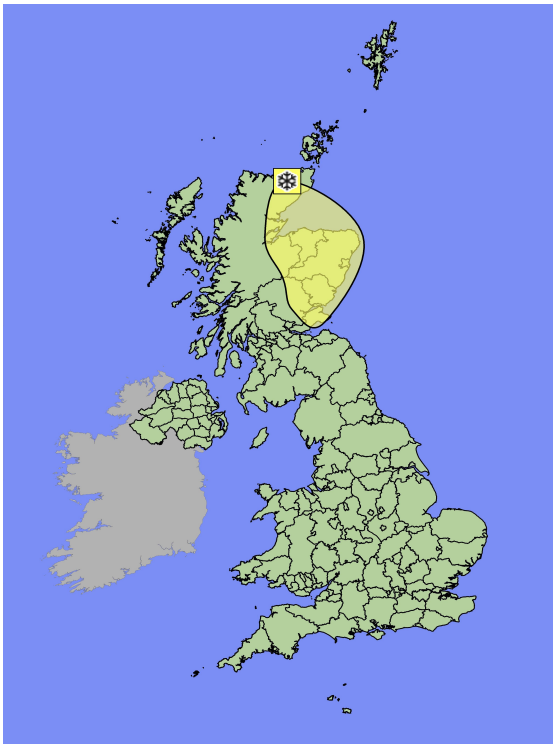
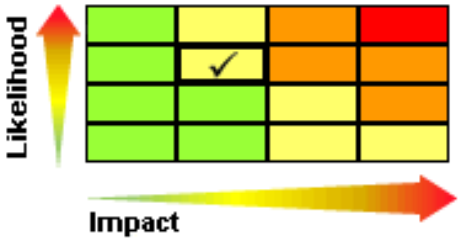
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
A cold air mass of arctic origin continues to feed showers across the region, these becoming fewer and further between as a ridge of high pressure builds.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Snow

Valid from 15:00 on Mon, 14th Jan 2013 until 09:00 on Tue, 15th Jan 2013

Sleet and snow showers on Monday evening will become fewer and lighter overnight, dying out on Tuesday morning. Accumulations of 2 to 5 cm are possible at lower levels, locally 10 cm over highest parts. Ice will be an additional hazard as temperatures dip.

The public should be aware of possible travel disruption.
